Treatment Plant "Open House" This Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 17-18

Shown above is part of the testing laboratory at the new Grayling Municipal Sewage Treatment Plant. The plant is located just behind the Grayling Memorial Recreation Area football gridiron. The "Open House" will be held both Saturday and Sunday, August 17th and 18th. On Saturday the plant will be open for public inspection from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m., and on Sunday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The plant with all its new, up-to-date equipment is probably the most modern sewage treatment plant in Michigan for the size of the community. City Manager Harold S. Cliff and the members of the City Council are proud of this great step forward in this vital area of city operation and wish the citizens of Grayling to be more familiar with the plant and its operation.

It is sincerely hoped that all citizens will take advantage of this opportunity and make every effort to look over the new treatment plant.

The ladies are now in the process of playing a handicap tournament. Sunday's two-ball foursome, in which 42 people took part, was won by the team of Jerry Burns and Eunice Slusser, who took low gross. Low net was tied for between the teams of Burns and Slusser, Bill Stewart and Rose Akers, Leonard Knibbs and Ethel VanNocker. Burns and Slusser scored again by winning low putts. High gross went to Frank Bond and Delores Burns, tied by Bruce Smith and Evelyn Gardner. Putt-off was also played Sunday, this being won by Bill Stewart. A barbecue supper followed the play.

Committees for Sunday's activities were, for the two-ball foursome, Eunice Slusser and Mary Pettengill, for putt-off, Alice Bond, and for the barbecue dinner, Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ellison and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Burns.

Four of five entries of chickens the Arthur Thayers took to the Osage County Fair at Gaylord last week placed in the Open Class. A Buff Cochon hen took a first place blue ribbon as a single bird entry.

Also placing as single birds were a second for an Araucana cockerel and a fourth for a Black Orpington. The Araucana is quite novel as it lays blue, green and pink eggs and is known as the "Easter Egg" chicken. This one also has no feathers but is covered with hair.

A pen of White Giants, two pullets and a cockerel took third place among the pen entries. The giants when full grown will weigh from eight to ten pounds.

$59,100 Per Yr. Locally For Road System

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK — To what extent the nation's road-building program digging into the pocketbooks of Crawford County motorists?

How much are local car owners paying toward it per year through their gasoline taxes?

The cost of the program and who is paying for it are of particular interest at this time because of a protest made by Congressman Oliver P. Bolton of Ohio to the "myth" that the 41,000-mile highway system is being built with Federal funds.

He asked that the thousands of signs along the highways that make this statement be removed as "clearly misleading."

Actually, he pointed out, the money comes from special taxes collected from the nation's motorists.

The cost, for the average Crawford County driver, who clocks 10,000 miles annually and gets around 14 miles to the gallon, is a little over $30 a year. This is based on figures compiled by the Bureau of Public Roads.

For those who use their cars to the extent of 15,000 miles a year, the bill is about $45.

The total amount being contributed by local passenger car owners to the Highway Trust Fund is estimated at $59,100 a year.

Most of it is raised through the 4 cents-a-gallon levy on gasoline. The balance comes principally from taxes on tires and tubes, on diesel fuel and oil and on vehicles over a certain weight.

All this is exclusive of the gas tax and other auto taxes being collected by the state, which were increased in October, 1959, when it was found that the trust fund was running low. Higher road construction costs and changes in plans made it necessary to raise more money if the pay-as-you-build policy was to be maintained.

As a result, the motor fuel tax, which has been 3 cents a gallon, was boosted to 4 cents. It meant an increase of more than $8 a year for the average driver.

Crawford County's car owners are now paying approximately $14,800 more per year because of the change.

In the nine years remaining to 1972, at which time the Interstate Highway System is supposed to be finished, it is expected that an additional $31,900 will be collected from local car operators in the form of Federal auto tax taxes.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Maciejko said that receipts of the Highway Fund during April, May and June of 1963, amounted to $47,265,840, an increase of $2,487,060, or 5.5 per cent, compared to the same period of 1962.

Crawford County's share totaled $64,791 while Grayling received $3,970.

Ohio's Guard Division To Leave For Home Saturday

OHIO'S GOVERNOR — James A. Rhodes, who reviewed the 37th Infantry Division at Camp Grayling last Saturday, Governor Rhodes is the first Ohio governor to review the state's Guard Division since 1957. Elected Governor of Ohio in November of 1962, the Buckeye chief executive was installed in office in January of 1963. He formerly was mayor of Columbus, Ohio and also served as State Auditor General. He attended Ohio State University and his motto during his campaign for Governor of Ohio was "Shirtsleeves up for Austerity."

LANSING — The State Highway Department has started distributing second quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages.

All Units In Field This Week

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. — Ohio's 37th Infantry Division will come in from the field Friday, shake off the dust from two weeks of rigorous training, and head for home Saturday.

Almost all members of the Buckeye National Guard division have spent the annual summer training period here living under combat-like conditions in the field. This week, every division member is in the field as grueling tactical maneuvers bring the curtain down on two tough weeks.

Reports turned in so far by the 32 regular Army officers evaluating the training indicate a rather high rating for the Buckeye Division. Final evaluations will be given to Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, division commander, after they are recorded with Second Army and the Continental Army Command (CONARC). Last year, the division received one of the highest overall ratings among Guard and Reserve divisions in the nation.

On top for the final days of training will be the taking of the Army's physical fitness test. All guardsmen regardless of rank have been preparing for the test, with a strenuous physical conditioning program daily. This is the first year since the Division began training here in 1960 that physical conditioning has been stressed.

Also being stressed in this year's training is counter insurgency or guerrilla-type training. There has been little time to relax this week as the guerrillas have attacked at all hours. The situation is tactical at all times with men posted to guard against the "hit and run" incidents.

Gen. Windom said the intelligence training is being pushed because "any potential enemy of the United States knows the value of guerrilla warfare, and we want to be prepared in case we ever have to fight it."

But by Friday the sneak aggressor attacks, the forced marches, and the simulated battles will be over. The emphasis will shift to the physical test and packing up.

A highlight of the field training period was the annual Governor's Review which ended the first week of training last Saturday. It marked the first time at Camp Grayling and the first since 1957 that an Ohio governor had reviewed the Division.

On the reviewing stand with Gov. James A. Rhodes was State Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, State Treasurer John Herbert, and State Adjutant General Erwin C. Hostetter. All except Rhodes are former officers in the 37th.

In brief remarks during the ceremony, the governor called the 37th "the pride and joy of Ohio." I say this without any fear of contradiction," he said, "you are the pride and joy of our great state. You are building, constructing and cultivating the best of America."

About 1,200 spectators — the largest crowd ever to view an Ohio review at Camp Grayling — watched the parade under a cloudless sky. The spectators were about evenly divided between families of guardsmen here for the weekend and residents of Crawford County.

The review ended a week of training in which Division units conducted live fire exercises with every weapon organic to a division except the Honest John Rocket. This week's combat maneuvers, in effect, were a test of all that had been learned during the first week's exercises and during weekly drills at home stations the last year.

In line with Gen. Windom's push for realism in training of the 37th was steady rains that greeted the units as they set up in the field Monday. The rains hit at the same time the units were setting up some of the 1,812 tents used by the Division during the two weeks. Units that set up bivouacs — the first week's training — were not for this week's tactical maneuvers.

On Saturday, the Division's 1,762 vehicles will take to the road for the 250-mile trip to the Ohio communities. As in making the trip here, the vehicles — moving in convoy — will log some 660,000 miles. They will be striving again for the perfect accident record obtained in the trip north from Ohio.

Physical examinations for all sports for 1963-64 school year at Grayling High will be held at the Grayling High gym on Saturday, August 24th from 11 a. m. to noon.

Those exams cover competitors in all sports, golf, track, football, basketball and skiing. If you plan to participate in any of these sports for Grayling High this coming school year, be sure to be at the Grayling High gym by 11 a. m. on Saturday, August 24th.

State's Highway Deaths On Rise

MURDER AND SUICIDE

What was feared early in the year is now becoming a daily nightmare to State Police officials. This year's highway death toll is very likely to be the worst in the state's history.

Traffic fatality counts seem to follow patterns of high incidence interspersed with a few low death years. This year another peak will undoubtedly be placed on the charts.

The last peak occurred in 1955 when 2,016 persons were killed. Rapid action by the Legislature in bolstering safety efforts that year dropped the toll in 1956 and decreases were recorded the two succeeding years also.

Since 1958, however, charts have showed relatively steady, but minor rises in the fatal accident count. This year a sharp change has occurred.

By mid-year, the traffic death toll was nearly 100 ahead of the count at the same time in 1962 and climbing steadily. Multiple death crashes have contributed greatly to the toll.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs blamed part of the current year's bad record on the fact that his department is lacking manpower. In addition to the relative reduction of the bulk of his request for additional troopers, the Civil Service Commission has now put into effect a maximum 48-hour week for State Police.

Under the previous 56-hour work week, the troopers covered 20 per cent more area.

Lack of appropriations for the traffic safety center at Michigan State University and other safety programs initiated after the 1955 crash consciousness, according to the experts.

Add to these factors the increased number of motorists on the road and the fact that better roads and more powerful cars lend themselves to greater speeds.

The predictable result of these factors is exactly what has happened. Motorists, with less enforcement in proportion to their numbers, have tended to become more careless. Placing more confidence than caution in the machines they drive, Michigan motorists are committing suicide and murder on the highways!

NORTHERN DEVELOPMENT

Another effort to enhance industrial development in Michigan's northernmost regions has been accomplished.

The Small Business Administration recently opened a branch office at Northern Michigan University in Marquette to serve the 15 Upper Peninsula counties and eight counties below the Straits.

Previously businessmen seeking SBA loans for expansion or other activities had to make all contacts by mail or telephone. Glenn G. Potter, formerly in the SBA office in Detroit, was sent to Marquette to manage the office.

The more convenient availability of advice on SBA programs and procedures is expected to encourage business development in the North.

In addition to providing loans for plant construction, expansion and conversion, the Small Business Administration assists businesses in selling products to existing property from the government.

Funds also are available through the SBA to small business investments companies, which in turn duplicate the Administration's services to some firms which might not qualify for SBA programs.

Carl Rasmussen, Special Assistant to ATAC's Research and Engineering Directorate Chief (far right) watches as Rangers Bob Humphrey (next to Rasmussen) and Forrest Rhoads benefit from the briefing.

The Detroit based Army Tank Automotive Center (ATAC) and the United States Forestry Service have demonstrated that agencies of the Federal Government are quick to cooperate with one another on projects which promise to save the taxpayer some money.

Details of the arrangement involving the loan of an experimental cargo truck in return for data on the vehicle's performance were outlined today by Carl Rasmussen, special assistant to the head of ATAC's Research and Engineering Directorate.

U. S. Forestry Service Rangers assigned to Huron National Forest near Minn. Michigan, picked up the 5-ton 8-wheeled cargo truck last week at ATAC's (Detroit) Arsenal in Warren, Michigan.

ATAC Deputy Commander, Col. Henry E. Davidson turned the vehicle over to Rangers Lawrence Battey, Bob Humphrey and Forrest Rhoads. The trio left the Detroit area and returned to the 149,000 acre forest where they will conduct evaluation tests on the truck for the next 12 months.

Acting as a liaison between the two agencies, Rasmussen said, "It was a natural. They needed a cargo carrier to haul heavy equipment into remote areas of rough terrain, and we were looking for a good place to conduct tests on the vehicle's off-road capabilities."

Before leaving on the 200 mile trip back Ranger Battey declared, "This gives us a much needed item of equipment at no additional expense; and keeping a record of the vehicle's overall performance," he added, "certainly imposes no hardship on us."

Commenting on the arrangement Rasmussen said, "It's a good break for us too. We'll have valuable performance data available when we need it, and we get the information without tying up any of our manpower."

The Huron National Forest, a nationally known tourist attraction, is located in Oscoda and Crawford Counties.

In the Valley of the Fallen, Mrs. Stripe saw the huge cross, about the same height as the Washington Monument, under which is built an underground church in the mountain, the whole a memorial to the dead of both sides of the Spanish Civil War. At La Granja, the summer palace of the kings, were the beautiful gardens patterned after the gardens of Versailles. On their trip south, the group flew to Seville, taking a chartered bus for the tour from there. In Seville they visited the cathedral of the bell tower of Giralda, and took a carriage ride through the old part of the city.

At Cordova the attraction was the Mezquita, an old Moorish church dating from the 10th century. At Granada, the famed Alhambra and the terraced gardens were a perfect example of Moorish architecture and landscaping. These were worth the whole trip if one saw nothing else. But also at Granada the group saw gypsy caves, and Flamenco dancing and songs by nightclub entertainers. At Malaga they enjoyed bathing in the Mediterranean, and saw a bullfight.

All Our Way Endure?

A number of distinguished historians and social scientists are concerned with what they consider America's most suicidal immersion in material things.

Thus, Vance Packard, in his "The Waste Makers," writes: "The superabundance in quantity of the goods of life in the U. S. may quite possibly be producing a deterioration in the quality of life." And Arnold Toynbee tells us that the American society we have created "is unlikely to survive very long."

Dr. George Katona, Director of the Economic Behavior Program, Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, says nay to these and other prophets of doom. He finds vast and lasting virtues in our mass-consumption society. He writes in This Week Magazine, "It is the ideal of freedom spread from America over the world, so the ideal of a good life is spreading. . . . And it is important, the Communist countries are not immune. A greater and greater concern for consumer goods is evident in Russia — and the greater the better. It is the have-nots who feel they have little to lose in a world war. Fighting for national or ideological or military notions of a bygone age, appeals far less to those with a decent standard of living."

"Perhaps, when the long perspective of history falls our age, it will be seen that America contributed as much to mankind through the development of (a) high standard of living for the masses as through the invention of liberty."

Mass production will continue to find and create new and better products of every kind — and its part in mass distribution, will bring them to us. And if the world's dreadful troubles and angers are to be eased, will be done not by undermining our own standard of living, but by bringing the standards of living of other nations closer and closer to ours.

Newspapers Are Top Salesmen . . .

Television, like radio before it but to a far greater degree, has brought about major changes in the advertising picture. It has been an aggressive competitor with the other media, and its appetite for the advertising dollar, with the cost of producing even Grade B programs running to comparatively astronomical sums, seems insatiable.

But the power of the written word still gets top recognition.

An announcement from Sears, Roebuck and Company will interest those who like to read as well as to stare. It expects to spend more than $60 million for newspaper advertising this year. Last year the figure was $58 million, which represented 71.2 per cent of Sears' total retail media expense. The balance went to advertising through circulars, magazines, radio and television, and other media.

A spokesman tells the story: "This is tangible evidence of our continuing faith in the potency of newspaper advertising. From the day Sears opened its first retail store, the company has made greater and greater use of newspapers. It is obvious that Sears store managers continue to regard the newspaper as their major medium for more than historical reasons. Their evaluation is based on the day-to-day results in their stores."

Television advertising is a catch-as-catch-can affair — you have to be looking at the set at the moment and it's gone in an instant. Print is durable and the prospective buyer can scan and consider it at his leisure.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

August 15, 1940

On the hottest days of summer three men toiled atop one hill and down another five miles south-west of here so that next winter when these long slopes glisten with snow the first sections of about 30 miles of trails for skiers will fit perfectly in the rolling landscape. John Rogers, assistant chief of the conservation department's parks division, and Arthur J. Barth of Milwaukee, secretary, and Edmund Couch, junior, member of the engineering committee of the Central United States Amateur Ski Association, are enthusiastic, after their preliminary survey, over possibilities for ski developments for the conservation department's Grayling winter sports park. Though the park in winter is equipped with six toboggan slides and a skating rink, there has been no provision recently for skiers, except the natural slopes. Contemplated improvements include construction of ski-jumping towers that will accommodate tournaments of the country's best jumpers. Besides a big jump, there is planned a junior jump and smaller jumps — which beginners — can learn and experts can practice for "form." All will conform to the USASA specifications. Downhill or slalom courses also are planned. The ski trails are to be laid out over some of Michigan's highest land (including the Three Sisters range and Cote Dame Marie and Westwage hills) in such a way that the novice may enjoy them.

and the expert still can find thrills along their slopes and curving contours.

Crawford County Board of Supervisors rared up and took the bull by the horns and asked the County Board of Road Commissioners to resign. Stories of irregularities by members of that body stirred the ire of members of the Supervisors' investigation of some of the stories resulted in a request made on the Road Commissioners to resign in a body. The Board of Supervisors, feeling that there had been irregularities in the conduct of the Commission affairs, there should be a grand jury investigation.

letter was also read to the Board.

A discussion was held on the following items:

1. New Board members. The following members have been suggested by the membership to serve on the Board of Directors:

This Board of Directors, acting as a nominating committee requested the Manager to contact these people for permission to place their names on the ballot.

2. Maps. The Board instructed the Manager to personally solicit the money owing for map advertising immediately after August 12. This is the date that a decision is to be made by the Board of Supervisors to accept or reject an invitation to participate in the purchase of maps. The lack of advertising money and the county's participation has caused the delay in printing.

3. Annual meeting. President Jack Alef is in the process of trying to secure an unusually good speaker for the proposed annual dinner meeting. The decision to have the dinner meeting will depend on the availability of a speaker.

4. The Board was informed of the subcommittee to be built which will be called the Grayling. Plans were discussed to form an association or bond between the sub and its crew and Grayling.

5. The Board was told of the Chamber's activities in connection with the Indiana Band Concert, the invitation to the towns people to participate in the Honest John Shoot and the Enlisted Man's Luncheon.

Motion by Alef and seconded by Rochette that this meeting be adjourned at 6:05 p. m. All Ayes

State's July Water Levels Remain Low

The Lansing office of the U. S. Geological Survey reports ground-water levels were at or near recorded lows throughout most of the State during July. Record low levels have persisted in the south-central part of the State for the past 12 months. However, in the western half of the upper peninsula stages were only slightly lower, and in the north-central part of the lower peninsula levels were well above average.

The key wells used for this review are located in areas of little or no pumping effect and reflect changes in aquifer storage—primarily in response to natural conditions. Records of ground-water levels that reflect natural climatic conditions serve as a basis for comparison with records of levels that are affected by pumping withdrawals.

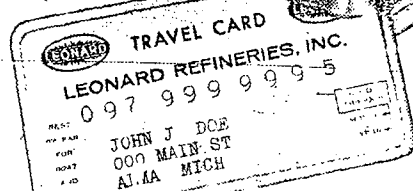

John Peterson and daughters Portia and Molly of Rochester spent Tuesday and Wednesday here visiting his mother Mrs. Bertha Peterson.

Steven Katona, Jr. was seriously injured July 27th when he fell down a 45 foot shaft at Kelsey Hayes while doing electrical work for his company, Long Electric Co. ## Honored With Bridal Shower

Miss Carole Gross was the honored guest at a bridal shower given Wednesday, August 7th, by Miss Donna Fenton and Miss Julie Carlson, of the Fenton home in town. They were assisted by their mothers, Mrs. Elmer Fenton and Mrs. Arthur Carlson.

Games were the entertainment for the evening, and prize winners were Sharon Williams and Cheryl Smock. Afterwards the hostesses assisted Carole in opening her gifts, then served refreshments. Streamers from the ceiling centered by a big bell decorated the gift table, and little bells around the room carried out the bridal theme. The bride-elect will be married to Larry Gust on August 24th.
